Dr. Stong Consulted as Expert on Possible Christina Aguilera Lip Injection Mishap

According to Benjamin C. Stong, M.D. "Christina's lips looked much fuller and more voluminous at her AMA performance compared to earlier photos. Her upper lip looks particularly fuller. She also appears to have decreased movement in her lips, which is quite common following injections with fillers like Juvederm or Restylane, which can briefly make lips less flexible until the swelling resolves and the material integrates with the tissues in the lips." Added Dr. Stong "You can particularly tell when she tries to purse her lips while singing. Fortunately, this is only a temporary effect and didn't affect her overall performance."
